Art. 3. SPECULATIVE AND RISK OPERATIONS

- c. This typology of operation is highly speculative, involves a significant risk of loss and is not suitable for all investors but only for those customers who: understand and are willing to assume the economic, legal and other risks involved; are experienced and knowledgeable about trading in derivatives and in underlying asset types; and are financially able to assume losses significantly in excess of margin or deposits because investors may lose the total value of the contract, not just the margin or the deposit.
- d. Our crowdfunding operations are not considered appropriate investments for retirement funds. Crowdfunding transactions carry a higher level of risk on types of investors and can result in large losses of invested capital. The client represents, warrants, acknowledges and understands the associated risks, is willing and able, financially and/or otherwise, to assume the risks and that the loss of client's entire account balance will not change the client's lifestyle.
- e. The Crowdfunding Term Sheet, made available and acknowledged by the Client prior to each contribution, specifies the nature of the project, the intended use of funds, any projected returns, the terms of Coin issuance, and all applicable limitations. The Coin issued to the Client in exchange for participation does not represent a claim for restitution or reimbursement of the original amount contributed.

AND CRYPTOCURRENCIES

- b. When operate where the underlying instrument is a cryptocurrency you should acknowledge and understand that cryptocurrencies are digital currencies that are not issued by any central bank or any other issuer and encryption technology is used to facilitate the generation of units. Therefore trading on cryptocurrencies is not appropriate for all investors. You must understand and accept the specific characteristics and risks related to these products.
- c. Pricing of Cryptocurrencies is derived from digital exchanges and due to the non-regulated regime of such exchanges, market data and price feed information provided by such exchanges may significantly differ from the rules and practices observed by the regulated exchanges. Pricing rules are solely depending on the discretion of these exchanges and can be changed at any time by them.
- d. Furthermore, digital exchanges may introduce trading suspension or cessation of trading or the price and market feed become unavailable to us. As a consequence, all these risks could result in material adverse effects on your account value and open positions, including the loss of all of your investment amounts. In case of a temporary or permanent disruption, or discontinuation of trading on any of the digital exchange from which we derive our price feed for the relevant cryptocurrency, your positions will be priced at the last available price and you maybe unable to close or liquidate your position or withdraw any funds related to such position until the trading of the relevant digital exchange resumes if at all. You accept that when trading resumes there may be a significant difference in price (gap) which may impact substantially your positions and possibly result in significant gains or losses. If trading does not resume at all your entire investment will potentially be lost completely.
- e. Clients acknowledge that Coins issued by the Platform may, subject to technological conditions, be recorded on a blockchain and therefore become transferable within the limits of the system's smart contract logic. Once committed, the funds shall no longer be available for withdrawal or refund, unless otherwise stated in the Term Sheet or mandated by law.
- h. In return for their participation, Clients may receive a digital utility Coin, exclusively usable within the ecosystem of the platform for accessing services, participating in digital asset pools, and carrying out trading operations. Although initially valued at parity with the deposited amount, the Coin is not a legal tender, nor does it represent a claim of reimbursement, and is not guaranteed to maintain a stable or equivalent value over time.

- i. The Coin, once issued, may be:
 - i. retained within the platform and used to access functionalities and services;
 - ii. transferred, where applicable, to an external wallet via blockchain infrastructure (subject to the applicable gas/network fees at the Client's sole charge);

- k. The Client acknowledges that participation in crowdfunding through the platform is speculative in nature, and may result in the total loss of the contributed capital. The Coin, while digitally recorded and attributed, may not in any way be construed as a safeguard or substitute for the contributed amount.

ART. 5.HIGH LEVERAGE AND LOW MARGIN CAN LEAD TO QUICK LOSSES

- a. The high degree of "gearing" or "leverage" is a particular feature affecting our operations. The effect of leverage makes investing riskier than investing directly in the underlying asset. This stems from the margin system applicable which generally involves a small deposit relative to the size of the transaction, so that a relatively small price movement in the underlying asset can have a disproportionately dramatic effect on your trade. This can be both advantageous and disadvantageous. A small price movement in your favour can provide a high return on the deposit, however, a small price movement against you may result in significant losses. Your losses will never exceed the balance of your account, which is balanced to zero, if the losses are higher than the amount deposited. Such losses can occur quickly. The greater the leverage, the greater the risk. The size of leverage therefore partly determines the result of your investment.
- b. The client must maintain the minimum margin requirement on their open positions at all times. It is the client's responsibility to monitor his/her account balance. You may receive a margin call to deposit additional cash if the margin in the account concerned is too low.
- c. The Company has the right to liquidate any or all open positions whenever the minimum margin requirement is not maintained and this may result in the client's operations being closed at a loss for which you will be liable. In addition, the Client needs to continuously monitor any open positions in order to avoid positions being closed due to the unavailability of funds, and it should be noted that the Company is not responsible for notifying you for any such instances.

- a. The Company's online system provides immediate transmission of Client's order once Customer enters the notional amount and clicks the connected button.
